Story and Legacy

PRODUCING TABLEWARE SINCE 1984

The journey of Vestigia is deeply traced by a family legacy of craftsmanship and innovation. It began in 1984 with the establishment of Mehra Industries. A family company, who transformed its printing expertise into the art of tableware design. By pioneering at the time, the transfer of patterns into tableware, creating a fusion of art and functionality that would define Mehra Industries heritage.

Over the decades, Mehra Industries gained recognition for its exquisite tableware, known for their luxury and durability. Today, as the third generation, we honor this legacy with Vestigia, a sister company that blends timeless tradition with modern innovation.

Vestigia offers a wide range of materials and molds ready to be customised. We believe that tableware is more than a product; it's a white canvas for stories, memories, and moments.

At Vestigia, we believe tableware is more than an object, it's the stage where stories are painted, memories are crafted, and moments are celebrated.

In-House Specialization and Local Sourcing

This vertical integration allows us to maintain complete control over the quality, design, and manufacturing processes. Ensuring that every piece meets our exacting standards of durability and elegance.
